

ONE OF MELBOURNE'S
LEADING JAZZ IDENTITIES
WORLD-CLASS PIANIST AND EDUCATOR
STEVE SEDERGREEN
IN CONCERT AT THE
THORNBURY THEATRE
IN
'START PLAYING NOW!'

Highly respected jazz identity & pianist Steve Sedergreen will be performing with many great and varied musicians including 'underground' singer/songwriter sensation Martin Martini; TV personality & singer Axle Whitehead, trombonist Dave Palmer, drummer Mike Jordan and organist Kim Keelart.

Other guests will include current students - members of the Blackburn High stage band.

Steve will also perform with his own outfit, Mistaken Identity (Ted Vining - drums; Nick Hayward - bass; Mal Sedergreen - saxophones).

Steve is a well-established figure in the Melbourne jazz scene from over 25 years of performing and a variety of activities including director of Dizzy's Jazz Club (1999 - 2006) and over 25 years of teaching jazz (including mentoring young musicians who developed into 'The Cat Empire').

Steve is very excited to be performing at the Thornbury Theatre as he will shortly be releasing his long-anticipated text "Start Playing Jazz Piano Now!"

This book encapsulates Steve's belief that playing jazz is about listening and communication - and being true to jazz's intrinsic roots. Steve says it's about moving on from theory and charting a fresh journey that is real and "in the moment".
